

This collage captures my life as a college student. The life of a student varies by person, so the photos chosen are from my perspective.

For the project, the style of my collage is simple and shaped into a heart. The background image is the photo I took; all the other ones are either from Adobe Stock or Unsplash. For the photo I took, it is inside a classroom. I chose that photo because as a student, I spend the majority of my time in a classroom. Most of the objects located outside the heart is stuff I have to do daily while the stuff inside the heart is stuff I enjoy doing daily. The stuff I enjoy doing, I placed everything on top of a bed. This represent how I feel most comfortable in my bed. Doing the other things not inside the heart forces me to get out of my bed.

For the design part of the project, color was important. Also, all the items beside 2 of them do not have a background. There are 2 primary settings: my bed and a classroom. These 2 settings represent different things. For the color choices, I purposely made items inside the heart more colorful, and items outside of it appear more monochromatic and dull. In addition to the heart shape, I added a slight pink tint inside of the heart. All of the items inside the heart appear to have a slight pink hue to it. The color pink is supposed to represent the stuff I enjoy doing. On the contrast, stuff outside the heart had minimal editing. The objects outside of the hearts main purpose was layout. On the bottom of the collage, it is more focused on items used in a class room, for example, a table, a backpack, a notebook, and a laptop. In the upper area it is stuff I use outside the classroom, as an example, a toilet, a bus, the stairs, and the road.
